

“The perfect place for friends
& families to come together and enjoy themselves.”

What's new in Old Town Bluffton? The Bluffton Old Town Merchants Society invites everyone to find out at “Thank Goodness It’s (Third) Friday,” held the third Friday of every month on Calhoun Street from 5-8 pm. The event welcomes long time locals, newcomers, and visitors alike to enjoy the best of Bluffton with savory Southern cuisine, live entertainment, shopping, and more in the heart of historic Old Town.

“You can come out on Friday night and have dinner and walk down the street. You can browse the shops, enjoy the arts, and there are activities for kids as well as good food and music,” said Sarah Bergin, Executive Director, Bluffton Old Town Merchants Society. “It’s beautiful in the evening. It’s the perfect place for families and friends to come together and enjoy themselves.”

Crowds can dance to the beat of several different bands; each Friday welcomes at least three different types of music ranging from deejays that get the crowd moving to rock bands, blues and jazz performers and the steel drums of Willie Cohen. There is plenty to keep the kids amused too, including appearances by Yostie and her puppets, jugglers, and other fun and games. With deviled crab, shrimp, a Lowcountry boil, and oyster roasts (in season) to hot dogs, hamburgers, and barbeque served up by

